RE: MUR 3774

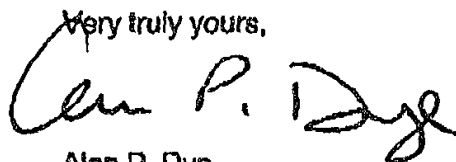

Dear Ms. Bumgarner:

In my letter of September 18, 1997, and a previous telephone call, I told you that it might be possible for the National Right to Work Committee to produce the information requested in Dawn Odrowski's letter of September 4, 1997, by Friday, September 26, 1997, but that we could not be certain that it would be possible to do it by that time. The principal problem is that some of the records necessary are in storage, and it is difficult to ascertain in which boxes the responsive information may be. Until a complete search can be completed, it is not even possible to determine whether there is any information responsive to the request.

In your September 19 letter, you extended the deadline for compliance until September 26, but recognized that I might be back in touch with you if it appears that it will not be possible to comply.

It is now virtually certain that the search cannot be completed by September 26. The National Right to Work Committee still feels comfortable in predicting that it will be able to search all the applicable files and either obtain the information responsive to the requests or ascertain that the information is not in its possession by October 3, 1997. Accordingly, I would like to renew my original request that an extension of time be granted through the close of business, October 3, 1997.

Very truly yours,

Alan P. Dye
